

Evolution, Not a Chance

Evolution is bad science, but it makes for good magic! Using “magical illusions,” Dr. Menton will illustrate the improbability of evolution. Biological systems leave little to chance—genetic information is precisely encoded in the DNA. You will see how to calculate the probability of the chance arrangement of amino acids into biologically-useful proteins required by evolution. What are the odds that evolution happened? Not a chance.

sponsored by

CREATION MUSEUM

